

New CTO at DaTARIUS

Leading test equipment manufacturer, DaTARIUS Technologies GmbH, is pleased to confirm the appointment of Bob Dobbin to the newly-created position of Chief Technology Officer for the entire group.

Dobbin will be responsible for the company's research and development strategies, and will focus on continuing to move DaTARIUS forward in the market with innovations in test equipment technology and process optimisation. He will be based in the DaTARIUS office in Irvine, California.

Bob Dobbin has degrees in Biology and Physics from MIT (Massachusetts Institute of Technology). He started his involvement in the optical disc business as an engineer in 1987 at DISC in Santa Ana, California, and founded CD Associates, Inc in 1989. He has contributed many innovations and several patents to the industry.
